

To my parents, who gave me life and strength;
to my beloved who brings stillness in my torrential storm;
and to those who have endured —
the fallen, the widowed, the forgotten, whose stories deserve to be remembered and retold.
May this work stand as a small act of remembrance.